Re: Longevity International Enterprises Corp./Maybelle Pang
MUR 4594

Dear Ms. Bell:

On April 12, 1999, we received by certified mail the General Counsel's Brief in this matter which stated the General Counsel's position on the factual and legal issues of this case.

Pursuant to said letter, we have 15 days to submit a responsive brief, which in this case would have to be submitted by April 27, 1999.

We are requesting an extension of time to submit a responsive brief and we are requesting an extension of 20 days or until May 17, 1999.

The reason for our request is that when we received the General counsel's Brief, it has been approximately two years since we had submitted a response.

While we do recall matters relating to this, we obviously need the additional time to review matters and statements and also advise our client of matters and bring them up to date of what has happened.

Also, we do have other legal matters that we are attending to such as a trial and motions, and with this brief now submitted, we would need some time to prepare and complete a written response. We simply cannot do this within the present schedule.
